The Eurasia Center is currently planning to launch its new Eurasia Journal. It will be made available to readers next fall and will address important issues and developments between America and nations of Europe and Asia (Eurasia).

Also The Eurasia Center will start distributing its Eurasia Brief in an effort to educate the public at large about important developments in Eurasia and how these affect the United States.

Naturally, The Eurasia Center invites overseas specialists to contribute articles and interviews in an effort to maintain an international relationship between these nations.

The Eurasia Reports, which started in 1991 and were pub-

The highly acclaimed Eurasian Report will be published next year as the Eurasia Journal and feature important developments between Europe/Asia and America.
